THE STUDENT FARMER

Gets Twice as Large Returns from His Land.

Prof. G. F. Warren of Cornell University, expressed the opinion that the farmer without an agricultural education was headed for the poor house. He quoted figures to show that ten collegebred farmers average $847 yearly income against an average of only $318 for the farmers whose education had been limited to the district school.

"Industrial education does not mean an educational revolution," said Arthur D. Dean of the New York State Educational Department, addressing the Department of Manual Training. A portion of agricultural and industrial practice can be expressed in mathematical form." He told the department that the employers must permit boys and girls to attend continuation schools for the preservation of American citizenship.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by C. P. Champney.

THE BLUE JAY.

The blue jay, whose fare is largely of insects, is the one bird which is destroying the brown tail moth in New England. This moth is one of the most destructive known, and its eggs hatch in the fall; the young safely winter in their nests in the trees, to issue in the spring, and begin their devastation on the opening foliage. The blue jay tears these nests open in the winter, and feeds on the young. How many village shade trees and country forest are saved from destruction by this humble bird, can not be estimated.

Driver of Automobile Sues driver of Team.

Drivers of automobiles who have been "held up" on the road by reason of the hogish actions of drivers of other vehicles will take much satisfaction and watch with interest, the outcome of a suit filed in Common Pleas court wherein Joseph Goodrich is asking the common pleas court to award him $1,000 damages for injuries received as the result of an alleged collision with Mr. Snyder's team and wagon.

He claims that on the night of April 2d last, between the hours of ten and eleven he was motoring along the Silverwood road, a mile and a half from Bradner. His machine was equipped with brakes and horn, and he displayed the lights as required by law, he says. Approaching him in an open space where objects could readily be seen, he avers the defendant drove his team of horses hitched to a wagon.

Although he tooted his horn, he states that the defendant continued to drive straight towards him without giving him room on his side of the road to pass. The result was that the automobile was hit by the heavy wagon and was overturned in the ditch with Mr. Goodrich under it.

Columbus, O., July 27.—Warren G. Harding of Marion county, former Lieutenant Governor, was nominated for governor by the Ohio Republican convention. Mr. Harding was named on the third ballot over a field of four competitors. During the progress of the balloting the greatest excitement prevailed throughout the hall, and when the final result was announced it was received with cheers. The Republican nominee received an ovation when he appeared before the convention and thanked the delegates for the honor conferred. The convention completed its work by nominating the remainder of the state ticket. There were lively contests for several places on the ticket.

LIEUT. GOV. TREADWAY.
(Renominated.)

The platform drafted by the resolutions committee and presented to the convention by Senator Dick was adopted with but few dissenting votes.

Sweltering in an almost unbearable heat, the delegates to the Republican state convention and several thousand spectators filled Memorial hall both above and below when the proceedings of the second session opened.

Among the delegates, both in the auditorium seats and on the stage, were many of the leaders of the party. Senators Burton and Dick, Representative Nicholas Longworth, Wade H. Ellis, chairman of the state central committee; Walter F. Brown, chairman of the central committee; George B. Cox and others shared in the attention of the on-lookers.

Burton's Speech.

After Temporary Chairman Longworth had called the convention to order, prayer was offered by Rev. T. Irving Reese of Trinity Episcopal church. The committee on credentials reported no contests.

On motion Senator Burton was unanimously chosen as permanent chairman. His appearance was the occasion for an outburst of applause.

In his speech Mr. Burton unequivocally praised the administration of President Taft, saying that under it the country had enjoyed a full measure of prosperity. The insurgent element of the party was generally criticized. The work of the last session of congress was defended, including the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, which was characterized as competent to meet the demands which it creates. Victory was predicted for this fall, and the delegates given credit for possessing such judgment as would result in the selection of the strongest possible ticket.

Mr. Burton added: "A remarkable situation is confronting us, and one which militates against the Republican party. This we must all recognize. Discontent is abroad. But nevertheless seldom have we ever been more prosperous; never have human rights been more sacredly guarded. There is talk of the interests and their undue influences on legislation. To those who are doing this talking I would say, specify. Do not generalize."

He then proceeded to discuss the cost of railroad transportation, which he says had been diminishing; increases of wages and the successful efforts in all cases except one to make adjustments of wages; and hearty co-operation of railroads employed in making the great systems of transportation possible. He closed his discussion of railroads by referring to President Taft's action in preventing the recent threatened general increases in rates.

Dick Reads Platform.

When United States Senator Dick arose to make the report of the committee on resolutions he was given an ovation of several minutes. The name of President William H. Taft was the signal for applause.

When Senator Burton put the motion of Senator Dick that the report be adopted there was only a few dissenting "noes," and he declared the platform adopted. The opposition which had been expected from James R. Garfield failed to materialize. Mr. Garfield had decided after going over the platform that it contained much of what he asked in his pre-convention statement.

The adoption of this report completed the list and placed the convention in readiness for the nominations of candidates for governor.

Nominations For Governor.

Marion county was the first to respond in behalf of Former Lieutenant Governor Warren G. Harding. The nominating speech was made by Grant Mouser, a former member of the national house of representatives. As he called out, "I name Warren G. Harding," the cheers in the hall were deafening and continued for several minutes.

The name of Judge Oren Britt Brown of Dayton was put to the delegates by his fellow townsman, Robert R. Nevin.

The great surprise of the convention was the withdrawal of Secretary of State Thompson from the race. It came so unexpectedly as to cause a distinct shock and was followed immediately after by the withdrawal of James R. Garfield from possible consideration as a candidate. In doing so Mr. Garfield said that he could not accept the nomination with the platform adopted.

Balloting For Governor.

The start of the vote was taken amid the greatest excitement. Harding took the lead at the opening among the smaller counties. The ballot resulted: Harding 485, Brown 413, Longworth 98, Garfield 73, Denman 2.

The second ballot resulted: Harding 497, Brown 363, Longworth 164, Garfield 38, Foraker 4. No nomination.

On the third ballot, when Cuyahoga voted solidly for Longworth, there were mingled applause and hissing. Cox cast the solid vote of Hamilton county for Harding, and there was great cheering.

Harding was nominated on this ballot. The vote: Harding 746, Brown 120, Longworth 195, Garfield 5.

On motion of Nevin of Montgomery the nomination of Harding was made unanimous.

Harding was escorted to the stage by George B. Cox, Mr. Nevin and Mr. Maschke. He was received with cheers. In accepting the nomination he predicted victory for the Republican ticket in November. He declared he would preach economy and honesty in public service during the campaign, and practice them if elected. He also praised Taft's administration.

Balloting For Other Places.

Lieutenant Governor Treadway was renominated by acclamation.

For Secretary of State Granville W. Mooney of Ashtabula and John L. Sullivan of Mercer were named. Mooney received 616 votes and Sullivan 450. Mooney was nominated.

For state treasurer: R. W. Archer of Belmont 628, Richard Gilson of Jefferson county 437, J. C. Rosser of Sidney 1. Archer was nominated.

Attorney General Denman was renominated by acclamation.

For supreme judge Summers of Clark, Hurin of Hancock and Crew of Morgan were named. The ballot: Crew 839, Summers 749, Hurin 505, and Judge Bradbury 93. Crew and Summers renominated.

For clerk of supreme court McNutt was renominated by acclamation.

R. W. Dunlap was nominated for dairy and food commissioner on the first ballot.

G. H. Watkins, Scioto county, was nominated for member of board of public works.

The eagle was adopted as the party emblem, the constitutional convention proposition was endorsed, and the convention adjourned.

We renew our pledge of loyal support given him in 1908 and endorse him for renomination in 1912.

The Issues.

No campaign in Ohio can be fought on purely state issues when the election of congressmen and a United States senator is involved.
